Valdosta State Student Wins

Runners From 8 States Compete in Macon Race

By Ed Grisamore Telegraph Staff Writer

Running, they say, is strength-ened when done in numbers.

So they came in numbers bankers, mechanics, secretaries, executives, housewives - to the one thing that would bring them together on a hazy Labor Day morning — the second annual Macon Tracks 10,000 Meter Road

Seven hundred and eighty runners, from eight states and 86 Georgia cities, assembled at the starting line for the 6.2 mile race from near Wesleyan College to Central City, Park.

The starting gun fired at 9 a.m. and some 30 minutes and 30 seconds later, a 23-year-old Valdosta State student named Gary Slayton dashed across the finish line in record time.

The top-seeded Slayton broke away from the pack early in the race and led until the two-mile marker when number two seed Herb Wills pulled even.

WILLS, AN 18-YEAR-OLD from Tallahassee, Fla., challenged Slayton for nearly three miles. Then Slayton turned on the speed and darted across the finish line 17 seconds ahead of second-place finisher Wills.

Due to complications, the results of Monday's Macon Tracks Road Race will not be published in today's paper. The Telegraph plans to publish the entire list of persons who finished the race, and their times, Wednesday. The Telegraph regrets this inconvenience to the runners and race fans.

Unseeded Ed Palmer from Enterprise, Ala., was the surprise third-place finisher with a 32:54 Tallahassee's Janice Gage placed tops in the women's category with a 36:50.

"We, were shoulder to shoulder there for a while," said Slayton of his mid-race duel with Wills. "I think he dropped off when we got to the five-mile mark and that's where I started putting the distance on

"You kind of take it personally when someone is right there beside you like that."

Slayton, who eclipsed last year's mark of 30:58 by North Carolina runner Lee Fidler, said beating such a talented field of runners gave him "great personal satisfaction.
"A great race like the one today is sort of like investing money. You put something into it, you get something out of it.'

And the 780 runners who "invested" their running prowess in Monday's race nearly doubled the field of entries from last year's first running of the event.

AS THE SUN broke through the morning haze and lifted the curtain on the big race, a cross-section of life gathered at the starting line in their running regalia.

There were runners everywhere, running everywhere through the parking lots, around the registration field and to the portable toilets set up nearby.

A mass of humanity assembled to await the starting gun. They were young and old, big and small, and male and female. There were long legs and short legs, profes-sional runners and neighborhood runners.

Linda Priest, a 34-year-old Ma-con mother of two, was there and lined up to take on the race from her wheelchair. She was later to finish the grueling course ahead o a multitude of runners and wheeled across the finish line to a huge ovation.

There was no "typical" runne as the gun sounded and 780 pairs o legs ambled toward "Heartbreal Hill" on Forsyth Road, one-hal mile into the race.

But there was one common feel ing — a desire to pass the stern en durance test of the 10,000-meter course and the determination to succeed.

Almost everyone did. With the long, hard training be hind them and the long, hard steps ahead, most of the runners seemed to be in better condition this year, and were aided by temperatures in the 70s.

Only two contestants had to be taken to the Medical Center of Central Georgia to receive 'treatment for heat exhaustion.

A Medical Center spokesman said Albert P. Reichert Jr. and Steve Redding were still being treated late Monday afternoon, but were not in serious condition.

All of the runners who collapsed during last year's race, including Telegraph and News Executive Editor Billy Watson, completed the race.
